

The Enduring Humble Giant (The River)

The River - a spectacular, beautiful, wonder of mother nature where we go to have picnics, go fishing, skiing or just there to take the serenity of the River.

The fascinating creatures that live on the River end or flying high in the colossal trees, as the Ancient Goanna is blending into the shabby bark, sneaking up behind the helpless, clueless ,irritating Fly corruptly flying pass the devious goanna, the Goanna leaps and takes the Fly by surprise as the modern dinosaur clamps its iron like jaw down on the innocent microscopic victim then “CLAM!” as the Goanna slightly opens its eagle like eyes he sees the petrified Fly flying away , the goanna hisses in disgust.
